課程簡介與目標

This is an introductory course on questions of the practices as well as discourses regarding gender and sex/uality in society. By society we focus on Chinese as well as Western societies, the two most familiar to us. In this course we explore subject matters of gender relations, traditions, abuse, labor, and migration.

課程大綱

This course explores crucial subject matters in relation to gender and sex/uality in the contemporary time. With an emphasis on, but not exclusive to, women ' s issues, this course begins with Taiwan as our departure point of observation and discusses topics such as gender equality, LGBT subjectivities, sexual liberation, immigrant spouses and migrant labor. Across all the topics, identity, cultural politics as well as social justice will be our primary concerns. We aspire to approach in what ways all the different people in the world today are gendered, how their gendered experiences have impacts on their personal and social lives, what theories there are to study those experiences, and in what ways we can do to better our life.
