Introduction
A chronological approach, combined with historical heritage during the course, is designed to give students a broad grasp of the chronology of Taiwanese history and of her heritage. Heritage not only represents the mark of history, but also contains a wealth of ethnic spirit and cultural meaning. With complete investigation in Taiwanese heritage, Taiwanese unique history and humanities could be discovered in this course. Through the collected data, team competitions, and off-campus activities, students should be able to discuss critically, in written and oral form, the important people and events in the past, and the role of heritage in Taiwanese history as well as articulate why heritage matters. Eventually, students could think of their own Taiwanese cultural identity.
