

101-2 Preliminary Syllabus, Da-Yeh Univ

Information
Title	國際貿易理論	Serial No. / ID	2651 / IBR5041
Dept.	國際企業管理學系碩士班	School System / Class	研究所碩士班1年1班
Lecturer	洪朝陽	Full or Part-time	專任
Required / Credit	Optinal / 3	Graduate Class	No
Time / Place	(五)567 / B	Language	Chinese

Introduction
An approach to the theory of international trade. Topics examined include the determination of the amount and composition of goods and services traded by nations, the terms of trade and changes in the structure of world trade. The impact of international trade on domestic stability, welfare and development. International factor price equalization, location theory and general methods of international economic relations. Qualitative and quantitative trade barriers are also analyzed.

Outline
<ol style="list-style-type: none"><li>1.International Economics is different</li><li>2.The Basic Theory Using Demand and Supply</li><li>3.Why everybody Trades:Comparative Advantage and Factor proportions</li><li>4.Who Gains and Who Loses from Trade?</li><li>5.Alternative Theories of Trade</li><li>6.Growth and Trade</li><li>7.The Basic Analysis of Tariffs</li><li>8.Nontariff Barriers to Imports</li><li>9.Arguments for and Against Protection</li><li>10.Pushing Exports</li><li>11.Trade Blocs and Trade Blocks</li><li>12.Trade and the Environment</li><li>13.Trade Policies for Developing and Transition Countries</li><li>14.Multinationals and Migration:International Factor Movements</li></ol>

Prerequisite
Micro Economics and Macro Economics