Introduction
The function of supply chain management is to design and manage the processes, assets, and flows of material and information required to satisfy customers ' demands. Supply logistics related costs account for 20-25% of a typical firm ' s total cost. On the revenue side the supply chain decisions have a direct impact on the market penetration and customer service. Globalization of economy and electronic commerce has heightened the strategic importance of supply chain management and c r e a t e ed new opportunities for using supply chain strategy and planning as a competitive tool. Electronic commerce has not only c r e a t e ed new distribution channels for consumers but also revolutionized the industrial marketplace by facilitating inter firm communication and by c r e a t e ing efficient markets through trading communities
