

98-1 Preliminary Syllabus, Da-Yeh Univ

Information
Title	新聞英文導讀	Serial No. / ID	2402 / HPS0081
Dept.	菁英學程中心	School System / Class	大學日間部1年1班
Lecturer	王瑞欣	Full or Part-time	兼任
Required / Credit	Required / 2	Graduate Class	NO
Time / Place	(二)9A / J120	Language	English

Introduction

The course "journalistic English" is expected to enable students taking the course to better comprehend English newspapers, English news magazines, English news periodicals as journalism English is a special style of English writing. Special diction and grammaticality in headlines, journalists' jargon, acronyms, abbreviations...etc in journalism English may all cause problems in reading for students using English as a foreign language. Besides using a textbook to familiarize students with such a special style of English writing, current news from local English newspapers, foreign newspapers, news magazines and news agencies will also be read in class.

Outline

Course Objectives:

- - The student will be able to develop both fluency and comprehension particularly of texts concerning academic topics and international news relevant issues affecting us today.
- - The students will be assisted in vocabulary acquisition, grammar recognition and use, and reading comprehension skill development.

Prerequisite

Students should be equipped with the basic English skills such as listening, speaking, reading and writing.