Introduction

Instruction goal (Core abilities)

1. Four basic language skills of listening, speaking, reading, and writing.(B)
2. Career/academic related language and interpretive ability. (A)
3. Foreign culture appreciation. (C)

This course aims for, firstly, encouraging fluency and the active use of English;

secondly, providing language models that will be directly relevant to the students' real needs. By achieving this goal, students will be asked to perform their basic language skills: listening to the English instruction, reading English text, and also responding in oral and written form (B).

The emphasis throughout is on presenting English as a means of international communication. Therefore, they will be capable of applying the language to their special needs, for example, in the business field. (A)

What is more, they will learn to appreciate different cultures, and adapt to foreign customs so they can be accepted by the foreign society. (C)

The course is for intermediate level learners who may have studied English before, but who have had little chance to use the language in real life.

Intermediate English Listening and Speaking 3 is a guide to intermediate English proficiency. It is aimed for developing higher level of oral English. It is focused on social conversation and cultural understanding. The students need to acquire the ability of understanding daily conversation and be able to respond appropriately. Overall, the goal of the course is to help students pass the intermediate level of General English Proficiency Test.

Outline

Practice basic level of listening and oral ability.
Greetings, time expressions, making conversation, prices and shopping. ect.
Project for the first semester: A 3-minute pair work of dialogue involving daily topic or various subjects. This will be presented by students in the end of the semester, before final exam

Prerequisite

Students who wish to attend this course need to have a certain degree of understanding about English grammar and have at least 4000~5000 words used most frequently. Students should also be able to understand daily conversation and communicate in simple English.
