99-2 Preliminary Syllabus, Da-Yeh Univ

Information

Title	( )	Serial No. / ID	1354 / IGR 6104
Dept.		School System / Class	1　1
Lecturer		Full or Part-time
Required / Credit	Required / 1	Graduate Class	No
Time / Place	( )567 / J117	Language	Chinese

Introduction

The Seminar course was design to address variours topics that are of particular interest to first year of graduate school students, taught by faculty from multiple discipline. The course will also address sharpening higher-level academic skill, enhancing students judge usefulness of the research resource and article or other style of research knowledge, help them understand and find out their interest, the direction of the study which they are going to put effort in the next year, meanwhile, the course enhancing the graduate students awareness of ethical issues and making a successful transition to university life.

Outline

This course will provide an opportunity to sharpen students' higher-leverl acdamic skills, enhacne their awareness if ethical issues in academica in general and the coures topic in particular and introduce the students to the benfits of integrating university resourse and extracurricular activities and events to enrich their overall academic experience.

Prerequisite

None