Introduction
English Composition II provides students with explicit skills-based instruction in composing and organizing longer written works. This course is comprised of five modules, where reading/listening tasks are integrated into the pedagogy of writing skills and serve as a clear framework for vocabulary building, language analysis, and thought-provoking discussions. The writing topics include global issues centered around social development, the environment, business, and technology. ===== The teaching approach includes, but not limited to, lectures, peer review, and group discussion. The instructor will make sure the class activities are varied and appropriate for students' learning needs.
