101－2 Preliminary Syllabus，DaY eh U niv

| Information |  |  |  |
| :--- | :--- | :--- | :--- |
| T itle | 英語口語發表與討論（二） | Serial No．／ID | 2231 ／ELF1002 |
| Dept． | 英美語文學系 | School System／Class | 大學日間部3年1班 |
| Lecturer | 杜凱蕾 | Full or Part－time | 專任 |
| Required／Credit | Required／2 | Graduate Class | No |
| Time／Place | （二）12／J216 | Language | Chinese |

Introduction

Like the first æemester of thiscourse，the development of English presentation and discussion skillswill be stresed through intensive practice in the class The topicslike business proposals and academic presentations are brought in this æmester．T hrough lectures and hands on practice，studentswill recognize both business proposalsand academic presentations as persuasive genres．Classroom activitieswill include important aspects of presentation organization and delivery．T hese conceptswill be reinforced through group discussion and presentation．

O utline

T he goal of thiscourse isto improve the confidence and skills of a student as a presenter thought intensive practice． The following isthe basic principle applied in the class（a）speaking and discussing practice through small group presentation，（b）developing the critical skillsby listening and responding to presentationsby other groups，（c）starting the æmester with a brief overview of empirical research in businessor empirical research in business or academic field，（d）understanding the relationship the work done by different authorsin a specific field，（e）discussing the question left unanswered by previouspresenters．M ore precisely：1－Studentswill learn to connect with the audience；
2－T hey will practice to overcome public speaking anxiety；
3．Studentswill practice how to respond to the needs of their audience；
4．They will learn how to make use of visual aids，
5．Studentswill learn how to capture their listeners\＆rsquo；attention；
6－They will try to avoid frequent and common mistakeswhile delivering a public speech．

Prerequisite

Thiscourse is designed for junior English majors and students of an equivalent background．

